

Writer's Eye

Day Camp ages 8-10 / 11-13

Reprinted with permission from The Private Eye Project.

A unique and fun-packed interdisciplinary writing program where students will not only gain writing tools that will provide a strong writing foundation but also develop their critical thinking, creativity, literacy and science skills!

The Curriculum

Woven through the writing process, students will use an acclaimed USA developed inquiry process: The Private Eye®. They will use The Private Eye® loupe, a simple magnification tool to observe closely everyday objects and nature. From their observations, students will analyze, draw, form analogies, theorize, problem-solve, question and write. They will also dip into their imagination and creativity through games and fun activities throughout the writing process.

The Course

Students will work on the foundations of writing. They will learn

- how to organize thoughts,
- form strong topic/thesis statements,
- use reasons, details and facts to support main ideas,
- use transitions and
- write strong introductory paragraphs and conclusions.

Students will practice a variety of writing formats – paragraphs, informative papers, summary, and opinion papers.

Teaching Method

Gale Arnold's teaching methodology, accelerated learning, utilizes the latest methods in brain research on how students' learn best.

Course Outcomes

- Foster writing appreciation
- Attain basic research skills
- Enhance observation skills
- Develop creativity and personal awareness
- Engage in scientific and mathematical thinking
- Build critical thinking
- Become more ecologically aware
